

This is not a school-sponsored activity

I am happy to announce that the Antioch's Center for Autism Spectrum Disorders will again be sponsoring the Friends and Family of Individuals with Autism and Asperger's support group. This group will reconvene on the second Wednesday of each month. The first meeting for this academic year will be Wednesday, Sept. 14 from 6:30 - 8:00.

Whether you are new to the diagnosis or have years of experience to share, you will find something to interest you. We hope to create a space where family members can share the joys, challenges and strategies for success. This group is free of charge and open to all friends and families of individuals with autism or Asperger's syndrome. New families are always welcome.

Once again we will be holding support groups for adult family members facilitated by doctoral students in the marriage and family therapy program. We will offer children's services and movement groups for the children of families attending the support group. So we can assure appropriate staffing, children will be accommodated only with advance reservations, on a space available basis.

Meetings will be held at the Antioch University New England Center for Couple and Family Therapy Institute, Center of Keene, 2nd Floor, #9, 149 Emerald St., Keene, NH 03431. (Entrance stairs are near the red deli sign on the Gilbo Ave side.)

For more information or to reserve a space for yourself and/or your children, please contact Jeni Wahlig at 283-2156.
